
Northern Ireland Public Data Panel

Code of Conduct

Purpose

A code of conduct helps to ensure that panel members act in a way that is consistent with the NIPDP's values. It also helps to create a comfortable environment for everyone.

Expectations

A code of conduct for NIPDP panel members typically outlines expectations for behaviour in areas like respect, integrity, compassion, confidentiality, objectivity, and professionalism.

The goal is to ensure that panel members act in a way that is appropriate to each other.

Importance of Values

Values are fundamental beliefs that help people define what is important to them, and how they live their lives. They are a guide for decision-making, and can help people live satisfying lives.

Northern Ireland Public Data Panel

Code of Conduct

Our NIPDP Values

Respect:

Treating everyone with dignity and respect and keeping their feelings, wishes, and rights in mind

Integrity:

Act with openness and honesty - acting in the best interest of the panel, and building trust through honest, transparent, and authentic discussions

Compassion:

Responding to others with kindness and humanity

Working Together:

Work with others and value everyone's contribution

Confidentiality:

Respect the purpose of the panel, give everyone space to air their opinion in a space of respect

Professionalism:

Everyone should act in a way that is appropriate to others

Objectivity:

Be objective to the discussion or topic, gain a better understanding of the topic by sharing information and viewpoints

Safe Space:

This is a safe space and everyone's contribution matters

Northern Ireland Public Data Panel

Code of Conduct

Date of document review:

Date of review:	Signature:
22 nd January 2025 - Version 1	John Wilson (p.p Frances Burns, p.p Elizabeth Nelson)